

Lesson 5 – Clause 7: Support

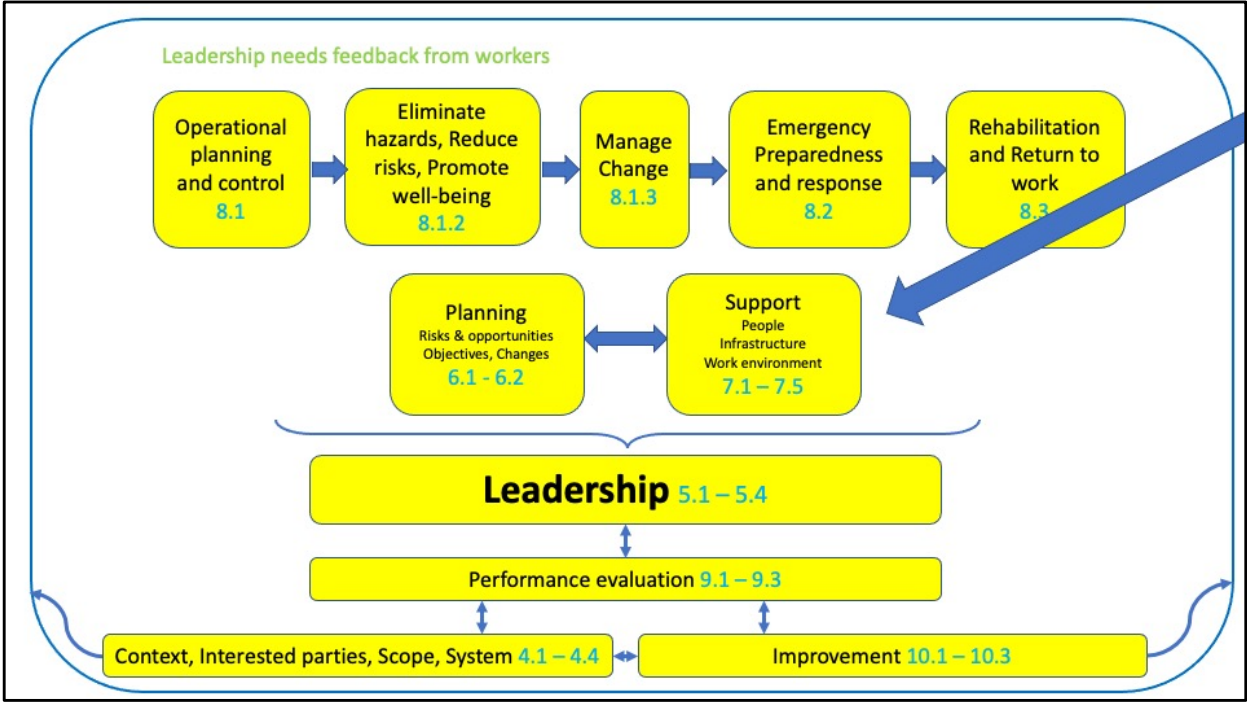

Clause 7.1 – Resources

7.1 Resources

The organization should establish, provide and maintain the resources needed to achieve its objectives with respect to the management of psychosocial risk. The organization should consider the human, financial, technological and other resources specific to its operations.

These are 'add-ons' for ISO 45001 – ISO 45003 is guidance for managing psychosocial risks at work, not requirements like ISO 45001

Support starts with Resources

You need to establish what 'resources' you'll need to reach your objectives

The organization should establish the resources needed to achieve its objectives with respect to the management of psychosocial risk.

You need to provide the
resources you'll need to reach your objectives

The organization should provide the resources needed to achieve its objectives with respect to the management of psychosocial risk.

You need to maintain the
resources
you'll need to reach your
objectives

The organization should maintain the resources needed to achieve its objectives with respect to the management of psychosocial risk.

You need
people to reach your
objectives

The organization should consider the human resources specific to its operations.

You need
financial resources to reach your
objectives

The organization should consider the financial resources specific to its operations.

You need
technological resources to reach your
objectives

The organization should consider the technological resources required specific to its operations.

You need a supportive
work environment
to reach your
objectives

The organization should consider the other resources specific to its operations such as a supportive work environment

Time for the Quiz!

You'll need your copy of ISO 45003 to answer the quiz questions

